Case Study: Enaflo Interiors

Eque2 EValuate

Enaflo delivers commercial interior design, office refurbishment and fit out including space planning, project management and furnishings, and have worked with clients such as Wowcher, Daily Mail Group and Trinity Mirror. With a rapidly growing turnover of £2 million, Enaflo take on projects ranging from as little as £500 to £1 million.

Prior to adopting EValuate in 2017, Enaflo had been using manual spreadsheets for their estimating processes, causing a lot of duplication within the business leading to time consuming efforts. Enaflo decided it was time to change this for a more modern approach.

Enaflo selected Eque2's EValuate construction estimating software for its ability to create a bill of quantities with ease via a user-friendly interface, at an affordable cost.

Matt Green, Director at Enaflo Interiors commented "Using EValuate has definitely had a positive impact on the business. EValuate has made it much quicker for us to respond to an increasing rise in client enquiries and when I need to report on any estimating information, I am confident I can locate it instantly".

EValuate allows you to save time and effort by saving past estimates and use them as a template for your next quote using up-to date costings, without having to re-enter data.

Matt goes on to comment "EValuate provides many benefits over using Excel spreadsheets. For example, you can build up a resource and item library rather than leaving yourself exposed to manually entered numbers or equations in spreadsheets which may not always calculate correctly. And when I want to price an item, rather than copy and pasting from a previous spreadsheet, which can take me a couple of minutes to find, with EValuate, I can just go to my item library and it's all there".
